Glenrothes Office Intern 2017

Overall, my experience with EQ was extremely positive. Firstly, the interview was very laid back and I was put at ease straight away. It was much more of a chat and a chance for me to sell myself as well as learning a lot more about the firm, ensuring me that I was making the right decision. The major factor that made me apply for EQ was the variety it had to offer within the 6 week period. Most other practices only give you experience in one area, limiting what you can learn about and not giving a well rounded view.

My first day was a success and straight away I was learning about clients and how to work the software EQ uses. All the staff were on hand to help me out with my countless questions but I was never made to feel like I was bothering them.

I was provided with a lot of information in my 6 weeks, giving me a good idea of the areas I prefer and am stronger in and I loved my time at EQ.
